

Congratulations!

You've just received a mass email.

If you are very boring or my grandmother, this is probably a pretty exciting day for you.

From: someone@somewhere.something
Subject: IMPORTANT - something not that important
To: All Something Associates

Hi Team,
...

You may be tempted to send a follow up reply to all recipients using "Reply All", but before you do, please - for the love of God - ask yourself the questions below:

